THE TRAVELING COWBOY

As the 2024–2025 school year came to a close, 15 Cooper City High School students set out on the adventure of a lifetime—an educational journey across Europe. Over the summer, they joined teachers in exploring five different countries, immersing themselves in rich cultures, uncovering layers of history, and experiencing breathtaking scenery every step of the way.

Their journey, organized by EF Tours and led by Mr. Martinez along with Ms. Bullard and Ms. Kotkin, lasted nine days and included stops in Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria and France. The goal of the program was to expand students’ horizons, encourage cultural understanding, and provide hands-on experiences beyond the classroom. The adventure began in Germany, where the group landed in Frankfurt and spent three days learning about the country’s history and customs. From there, they traveled to Switzerland, a highlight for many. Students toured Lucerne, admired the famous Swiss Alps, and soaked in some of the world’s most stunning landscapes.

“My favorite destination was Lucerne, Switzerland,” said English Language Arts Teacher Ms. Bullard. “I was able to see the beautiful Swiss Alps and the mountains.”

After Switzerland, the group stopped in Liechtenstein and Austria. In Liechtenstein, they experienced the unique culture of one of Europe’s smallest countries, while in Austria, they sampled traditional cuisine, including the famous Wiener schnitzel. Students also practiced their communication skills, navigating the German-speaking country with gestures and basic phrases.

“We did a lot of pointing [to communicate],” senior Joseph Pino explained. “This helped us connect with the people.”

The final destination was France, where students enjoyed French food and visited world-renowned landmarks such as the Eiffel Tower. Experiencing Paris was the perfect finale before returning home to Florida. For many, the trip was more than sightseeing—it was about building memories and gaining perspective. “I went on the trip last year and couldn’t wait to go again this summer,” said Pino. “I was able to experience different cultures and the full journey.”

The teachers shared the same joy. “Seeing the students happy about the trip and enjoying themselves is why I do this field trip,” Mr. Martinez explained. “Being a part of their experiences and memories of a lifetime makes it so fun.”

Thanks to the efforts of the faculty, this trip gave students an unforgettable chance to see the world. And the journey isn’t over—Mr. Martinez has already begun planning for next summer. “Next year we’re going to Japan,” he revealed. For Cooper City students, the spirit of exploration is alive and well.

NEW SHERIFF IN TOWN

The start of any new school year always brings change—new classes, new friends, and new opportunities. This year at Cooper City High School, the most significant change is in leadership—and we're excited to welcome Principal Curran to the Cowboy family.

Principal Curran comes to CCHS with a strong background in education. He earned his bachelor's degree in English Education at Canisius College, followed by a master's degree in English Education at Buffalo State University, and later received his Educational Leadership Certification from Florida Atlantic University.

Before joining the Cowboy family, Principal Curran spent five years teaching English in Buffalo, New York, and has served in multiple roles throughout his career, including Literacy Coach, magnet coordinator, and assistant principal at Fort Lauderdale High School. Most recently, he was the principal at Everglades High School.

When asked about his mindset heading into a brand-new year at a brand-new school, Principal Curran shared his excitement. "I think with every school year there's always a natural excitement," he said. "I was excited about the new challenge... discovering what's amazing and figuring out how we can make it better each day."

Like any school leader, he enters with goals in mind. Whether it's raising academic performance, increasing student involvement, or strengthening school community, Principal Curran has already set clear ambitions for the year ahead.

"I want us to be number one in Broward County," Principal Curran said. "We just had that top ten percent in the nation news, which is amazing, but I want to move forward with that continuous number one improvement." So far, students and staff have noticed the impact. From smiles across campus to an approachable leadership style, Principal Curran's presence is already being felt.

Students have also shared their enthusiasm. While the beginning of the year is always an adjustment, many are excited about the new addition. "Principal Curran has already brought a really fun and exciting energy toward our school," senior Victoria Recht said. "It's really exciting to see new ideas and our school move forward in a different direction, but also continue the Cowboy legacy."

"It was kind of destiny, was the word I've been using," he explained. "I've kind of always been looking at the school. So even when they told me I was going, I was like 'perfect!'"

As the semester continues, both teachers and students are eager to see how Principal Curran will leave his mark on the Cowboys. The year is still young, but the energy and optimism surrounding the school's new principal make it clear that CCHS is ready for its next chapter. Principal Curran is ready to carry the Cowboy spirit alongside its community members as they build new traditions and strengthen old ones.

DECA CHAPTER

Whether you dream of launching your own business or leading a marketing campaign for a global brand, DECA can be your first step.

DECA is a spirited high school club and class that empowers future leaders and entrepreneurs through real-life business experiences, career-focused learning, and competitive challenges.

“I decided to stay in DECA because it was an engaging experience. I was able to make a lot of new friends, and I think I was able to build myself up professionally.” said senior Chiew Anh Dang, DECA president.

DECA helps students grow as leaders by giving them authentic opportunities to take initiative. Whether it’s planning events, collaborating on projects, or presenting ideas to judges, members learn how to lead with confidence and purpose.

“My involvement in DECA definitely helped broaden my network with the people I knew and the different industries they were in,” Chiew Anh shared. “It also helped develop my personal skills—like speaking with another person or presenting in front of a large group. It definitely made me less scared about public speaking.”

Through their first competition or by presenting business strategies to judges, DECA members gain real-world experiences that strengthen communication, confidence, and decision-making.

Even though DECA is mostly student-led, behind it all is the amazing advisor, Ms. Ferreria. She prepares her students to become emerging leaders and entrepreneurs in fields like marketing, finance, hospitality, and management.

Ms. Ferreira has led many students to greatness, helping them to achieve DECA states, a huge accomplishment. “It’s so great, I have a real great sense of pride. I’m so proud of them,” Ms. Ferreira said.

Being an advisor comes with great responsibility. A lot goes into preparing her students and club members for DECA states. DECA has a lot of moving parts, and there are many competitions. “I just tell them to take it one day at a time when they are freshman, and I tell them when I first started here at Cooper City High School and my first year as a DECA advisor, I did not understand really anything until I got to states and the state competition, and I saw everything in action,” advisor Ms. Ferreira said.

DECA is not only about tons of hard work and seriousness, but it is also extremely rewarding and lots of fun. Going to states means travelling with friends, meeting new people, and having a chance to win the state competition.

Ms. Ferreira enjoys being the advisor more than anything. “I enjoy being a DECA advisor because I love to see how students grow from freshman year to senior year and how they change from being shy and timid, not sure of what they want to do, to growing up to these very confident, well-rounded individuals.” Ms. Ferreira said.

FRESHMAN MOTS

Stepping onto a new campus, the freshman class of 2029 is ready to begin their high school journey. This next chapter promises new friendships, academic challenges, and unforgettable moments. From sports and clubs to school traditions, here is what the newest Cowboys are most excited about as they join the Cooper City High School community.

To capture student voices directly, The Lariat used one of its favorite formats—Man on the Street (MOTS). In MOTS pieces, reporters ask students the same question and share their answers to highlight a variety of perspectives. For this edition, the question was: “What are you most excited for in high school?”

“I’m excited to watch all the CCHS football games,” freshman Christian Serrano said. “I’m also interested in seeing what the pep rallies are like.”

“I’m looking forward to going to all the football games and experiencing what the pep rallies are like,” freshman Logan Izquierdo said. “I am also excited to try out for the soccer team.”

“I’m most excited for spring sports to come around so I can try out and hopefully make the varsity baseball team,” freshman Cooper Borzen said.

“I’m looking forward to getting good grades and meeting new people,” freshman Mia Boan said. “I’m also excited to see all the scholarship options that CCHS offers.”

From the thrill of Friday night football to the pride of spirit week and the challenge of earning top grades, the class of 2029 is stepping into high school with excitement and ambition. Their enthusiasm marks the beginning of a new era of Cowboys ready to make their mark at CCHS.

SENIOR MOTS

For the CCHS graduating Class of 2026, the final chapter of their high school careers has arrived. As they look back on a journey filled with growth and memories, a new sense of excitement builds for what the future holds. From senior traditions to future plans, the Cowboys of 2026 are ready to make the most of their last year.

“I’m really excited for all the fun activities we have coming up in my senior year,” said senior Parker Aversa. “I’m looking forward to the homecoming week activities the most.”

“I’m looking forward to all the fun memories that I will be making this year,” said senior Jaeden Cavanagh. “I can’t wait to see what the future holds, but I’ll miss CCHS and all the memories that I made here.”

“Senior year has been great so far,” said senior Katie Brent. “I’m looking forward to all the upcoming football games and cheering on our team.”

“I’m excited to finish my senior year and see what my plans after college will look like,” said senior Lilah Osborn.

“I’m looking forward to playing in all the upcoming football games and hopefully winning,” said senior Jayden Smith.

From pep rallies to Friday night lights, and from planning for college to celebrating senior milestones, the Class of 2026 is soaking up every moment of their final year. Their excitement reflects not only the traditions they’ll enjoy but also the futures they’re preparing to step into after graduation.

School News 6

Cowboy Corral

“We set up for an event like this by planning with SGA officers on creating a schedule and agenda,” senior and SGA president Grace Lerner said. “Then we reach out to people involved to get volunteers and delegate specific roles.”

During the Corral, students get to switch between four rotations, all led by SGA officers. They receive a tour of the campus, take their ID pictures, explore clubs and sports, and attend a High School 101 presentation designed to prepare them for the years ahead.

“Strategies that go into getting the freshmen involved in clubs and after-school activities are that we set up a designated section of Cowboy Corral that the kids walk through in the cafeteria,” Lerner explained. “All the clubs and sports are set up and recruit the kids—like a mini Rush Week.”

Unlike pep rallies or football games, Cowboy Corral has a different purpose: it opens the doors of Cooper City High to its newest students and welcomes them into the Cowboy family. For the Class of 2029, it’s the official start of their journey, and CCHS wishes every new Cowboy an excellent first year.

One of the cornerstones of every freshman’s first year at Cooper City High is the Cowboy Corral—an event that introduces incoming students to the school’s community, traditions, and many after-school activities. Months of preparation go into organizing the day so that students, parents, clubs, and sports teams can enjoy a welcoming and memorable experience.

Much like Rush Week, Cowboy Corral allows students to explore the wide variety of extracurricular activities available. From sports to academic clubs, many organizations eagerly await new members. While not every student signs up immediately, the event gives them a chance to familiarize themselves with what CCHS has to offer.

“We did have a couple of the new kids sign up,” girls’ soccer coach and SRO Kevin Coleman said. “Usually you can’t tell if they [the players] have talent or not until you get them on the field, but having conversations with them you could tell that they’ve played before and have some knowledge of the sport.”

An event as crucial as this doesn’t happen without careful planning. SGA members and staff collaborate behind the scenes to create an experience that will leave a lasting mark on the incoming class.

Athlete of the Issue

JUSTINE MONROE

Balancing extracurriculars, clubs, two varsity sports, and being a role model to her peers is no easy task—but senior Justine Monroe makes it look effortless.

Monroe is both a competitive and a football cheerleader as well as the goalie for the girls' lacrosse team. She first joined the Cooper City cheerleading team as a freshman and has grown into a respected leader, now serving as senior captain.

“I joined cheer because I wanted to be involved in our school,” Monroe said. “I was also a competitive dancer for 11 years of my life, so I thought cheer would be fun and similar to that.”

Her dedication to the CCHS cheerleading team has made her a role model for her teammates, who admire her leadership on and off the mat.

“Being on the team with Justine was the best thing that could have happened to me,” sophomore cheerleader Grace Dominguez said. “She has not only created a relationship with me but with every single girl on the team. She’s the best leader any team can ask for.”

But Monroe’s impact doesn’t stop at cheerleading. When the CCHS girls’ lacrosse team was in urgent need of a goalie, many students were hesitant to step into such a demanding role. Without hesitation, Monroe took the challenge—despite having no prior experience—and quickly became a vital part of the team.

In addition to sports, Monroe is also deeply involved in campus life. She participates in SGA, Yearbook, HIP, NHS, and the Principal’s Advisory Board.

She credits her cheer coach Alexa and yearbook teacher Ms. Evans for shaping her high school experience and encouraging her to push beyond her comfort zone.

As she prepares for college, Monroe shares this advice with underclassmen: “Plan your time wisely. Using study hall for homework makes a big difference.” She hopes to pursue a four-year degree in either sports management or marketing, while continuing to lead and inspire others.

Whether on the sidelines, in the classroom, or on the lacrosse field, Justine Monroe has left her mark at CCHS as a leader who balances it all with heart, courage, and school spirit.

Cowboys Kick Off the Season

On September 4, the Cowboys kicked off their first home game of the season against South Broward with a tropical theme. Students from every grade came decked out in leis, sunglasses, and Hawaiian shirts, bringing vibrant energy to the stands as they showed up to support their team.

“It was exciting to watch the band for the first time,” freshman Natalia Mascheroni said. “And the color guard at halftime was good as well!”

The Cowboys started the game strong by scoring first. Senior kicker Christian Martinez (#27) made the opening field goal, giving Cooper City three points to set the tone for the night.

“At first I was a little nervous,” Martinez admitted. “But once I got up there I was locked in and it was just like practice.”

Later in the game, South Broward struck back with the first touchdown, pulling three points ahead of the Cowboys. That didn’t last long—Martinez answered with another field goal to tie the game at 6–6.

“After making it I felt really good and confident, and it was easier to continue throughout the game,” Martinez said.

Despite the Cowboys’ determination, the South Broward Bulldogs pushed ahead with another touchdown. Cooper City’s defense fought hard, but the Bulldogs pulled away as the game progressed.

“I felt excited,” senior outside linebacker Jake Wallace said. “And we have a lot to improve on.” The Cowboys never stopped fighting, but when the final whistle blew, South Broward won 36–9. For Cooper City, the game became less about the score and more about lessons learned. “It didn’t go as good as we wanted it to,” Martinez reflected. “But we were still able to learn from it and make improvements.”

Head coach Coach Taylor echoed the optimism, reminding the team that the season had just begun.

“There’s eight more games ahead of us,” Taylor said. “The boys are trying harder, and we can only get better.”

Though the scoreboard showed 36–9, the Cowboys left the field with their heads held high. With more games to come, the team remains determined to grow, improve, and carry their Cowboy spirit into the rest of the season.

2025 SUMMER MOVIE REVIEWS: LILO AND STITCH, JURASSIC WORLD: REBIRTH, AND M3GAN 2.0

Disney has been slowly remaking its animated classics, and now it's Lilo & Stitch's turn. The film keeps the original's emotional core: a lonely little girl in Hawaii who adopts a misbehaving alien. Maia Kealoha's performance as Lilo is heartfelt and convincing, anchoring the movie with warmth. While the CGI version of Stitch takes some getting used to, his chaotic charm remains intact. The movie shines in its portrayal of Hawaiian culture, giving the story more depth than a typical remake. "This film celebrates Ohana in a way that feels fresh but true to the original," said one fan after opening night. While it may not replace the animated version in fans' hearts, it's a touching reimagining that will likely bring both nostalgia and a few tears.

The Jurassic Park franchise has always been about big dinosaurs and bigger action, and Rebirth follows that tradition. With its stunning CGI, the film is a thrilling, popcorn-worthy ride, delivering incredible hold-your-breath chase sequences and sweeping shots that look spectacular on the big screen. The story is a simple vehicle to get from one thrilling action sequence to the next, giving audiences exactly what they want: big dinosaurs and bigger action.

The killer AI doll returns in M3GAN 2.0, a sequel that doubles down on the first film's successful blend of horror and comedy. Embracing its campy appeal, the movie delivers an entertaining ride filled with both unsettling moments and laugh-out-loud one-liners. This time, M3GAN is sassier and more unhinged than ever, solidifying her place as a modern horror icon.

STARBUCKS NEW FALL COLLECTION IS HERE!

The Starbucks fall menu is back and better than ever with ten returning and four new seasonal items. You can purchase these seasonal items from Late August to Early November. Starbucks's most popular seasonal drink since its release in 2003, the pumpkin spice latte, continues to thrive this season.

A rising star, the iced pumpkin cream chai, is slowly creeping up on the pumpkin spice latte. "I've received almost the same amount of orders for the iced pumpkin cream chai as I have for the pumpkin spice latte," a Starbucks manager said. "I think it has to do with our new pumpkin cold foam, it's perfect for the fall."

With many new items to try, there's definitely one for you. Are people willing to try them?

"I love trying new things," Sophomore Lauren Barton said. "I'm planning on trying the pumpkin cream cheese muffin because I like pumpkin-flavored items and it sounds interesting."

If you love pumpkins or cream cheese, the pumpkin cream cheese muffin is a perfect choice. Great news, if it's a little chilly outside, you can even warm it up!

If you're looking for a protein-packed, bite-sized snack, the new Italian Sausage Egg Bites are the one for you. With a whole 15 grams of protein, it's perfect for breakfast, lunch, or even dinner!

A new drink, the pecan oatmilk cortado, contains three ristretto shots of Starbucks Blonde Espresso combined with flavors of comforting pecan and perfectly steamed oatmilk finished off with a pecan-crunch topping. It doesn't only sound like the perfect choice of a parent's morning coffee, it is!

"I had never tried it before but I would get it again," said a Cooper City High School Parent. "I get lots of hints of caramel and it's not overly sweet which I like. The hot version was good but I'd love to try the iced version to compare."

The never-ending debate of the pumpkin spice latte being the best seasonal item will truly never be decided once and for all, though it can definitely be questioned. Here's what a few CCHS students said:

"I'm not a big fan of lattes, but I'd be willing to try the pumpkin spice anyway. I'm sure it's much tastier," junior Nicole Abisoror said.

"Personally, I don't really like the pumpkin spice latte, I feel it tastes too much like cinnamon. But, I will drink it every so often because it's a good drink overall," freshman Aisha Arwas said.

"I live for the pumpkin spice latte," junior Stephanie Cortes said. If you haven't visited your nearest Starbucks yet this fall, what are you waiting for? Better latte than never!
